Announcement Regarding the Issuance of USD-Denominated Senior Notes

Rakuten Group, Inc. (hereinafter “the Company”) announced that it has determined to issue USD-denominated senior notes due 2029 in overseas markets outside Japan under the following conditions.

Background and Purposes of the Transaction

As announced in our presentation “FY2022 Fourth Quarter and Full Year Consolidated Financial Results CEO Group Strategy” dated February 14, 2023, under our policy of conducting disciplined management with due consideration to the balance between growth investment and mid- to long-term financial soundness without excessive dependence on interest-bearing debt, we are working to strengthen our financial soundness.

We have worked to procure various non-interest-bearing debt funding, including the issuance of new equity through a public offering and concurrent third-party allotments, the secondary offering of shares of Rakuten Bank, Ltd. owned by the Company, and the partial transfer of shares of Rakuten Securities, Inc. to Mizuho Securities Co., Ltd. by Rakuten Securities Holdings, Inc.

Against this backdrop, we are currently working on balance sheet management through reduction of total debt and proactive debt maturity management.

As part of our efforts for proactive debt maturity management, we issued USD denominated senior notes due 2027, and conducted cash tender offers for certain of our USD denominated senior notes due 2024 in February 2024. In addition, with the aim of diversifying fundraising methods and expanding our investor base, we have submitted a shelf registration for Series 1 Bond-type Class Shares in February 2024.
